If arguments were required to show the great importance, in a sanitary point of view, of a special hospital in this metropolis for the reception of patients affected with contagious fevers, the unprecedented numbers admitted into the Fever Hospital last year must be sufficient to convince the most sceptical. No fewer than 1761 individuals, of all ages and from almost every district of the metropolis, were received. It appears from the last Report that, on the 31st of December, 1855, there remained under treatment 121 patients, the remnant of 1026 patients admitted in that year. There seems to have been a large number admitted in the month of December, 1855 (153), being considerably above the usual monthly average. This prevalence of fever continued throughout the first four months of 1856, during which 813 were admitted. In the succeeding months the average number admitted was somewhat less. The Medical Reports, submitted to the Committee at the monthly meetings last year, show the admissions in January to have been 221, in February 191, in March 189, in April 213, in May 159, in June 140, in July 125, in August 102, in September 70, in October 115, in November 131, and in December 98. It thus appears that the largest number admitted (213) was in April, and the lowest (78) in September. The daily average of patients in the Hospital throughout the year was about 110.

This is by far the largest number admitted into the Hospital in any year since its establishment, fifty-five years ago, exceeding by 300 the admissions in any former year.

In regard to the types or forms of the fevers last year, there was nothing remarkable except the extraordinary proportion of typhus to typhoid, as compared with the three preceding years. The experience of the Hospital shows that typhus, strictly so called, is the most prevalent form, but this comparative prevalence varies in different years, as well as at different periods of the same year. Thus, in 1856 there were 1061 cases of typhus against 149 of typhoid (that form characterized by disease of Peyer's glands), being in the ratio of 7.11 to 1, while in the two preceding years (1854 and 1855) the proportion was only about 3 to 2, and in 1853 it was in the ratio of 2 to 1. The greatest disproportion was observed in March and April, in which two months there were 275 cases of typhus and only 16 of typhoid admitted—being in the ratio of 17 of the former to 1 of the latter.

Again, it was observed that the months in which the two forms were most nearly equal were from August to November—the proportion in August being 1.4 of typhus to 1 of typhoid.

Of that form of fever to which in former Reports the term febricula has been given, characterized by the mildness of the symptoms, the absence of peculiar rash, and of any organic complication, there were 89 examples, all of whom recovered.

The numbers admitted with scarlet fever were 183, being a slight increase as compared with the cases received in 1855. It was most prevalent in April and October, the admissions being 31 and 26 respectively.

In regard to the acute diseases not fevers, they were, as usual, acute affections of the various internal organs, with accompanying or symptomatic fever. They consisted of diseases of the brain—inflammation of the lungs—tuberculous affections in various parts—erysipelas and acute and chronic diseases of the kidneys. Of this class there was a large proportion—217.

The mortality last year was 289, being out of the total numbers admitted and under treatment on the 31st of December, 1855 (1882), in the ratio of 15.3 per cent., including, of course, the deaths from fevers as well as from other diseases.

Of the cases of typhus under treatment (1117), the mortality was 204, or about 18 per cent.: of typhoid, it was 24 out of 180, or about 13 per cent. Of the 189 cases of scarlet fever, the deaths were 14, or 7 per cent. Of the other acute diseases not fevers (291), there were 47 deaths, or about 16 per cent.

To show the severity of the cases, and, in too many instances, the hopeless condition of the patients when admitted into the hospital, it may be stated that 152 patients died within a week after admission, and of those 27 did not survive 24 hours.

In regard to the mortality monthly, it may be observed that, of the 289 fatal cases, 206 died in the first six months of the year—42 having died in the month of February alone, while in September and December, the months in which the fewest number of patients were received, the deaths were only 9 in each respectively.

Comparing, however, the mortality of 1856 with that in the preceding year, the proportion of deaths—keeping, of course, in view the increased number admitted last year—was much smaller. In 1855, the gross mortality was nearly 17 per cent. (last year it was 15); that from typhus, 25 per cent. (last year it was 18); from typhoid, 13 per cent. (last year it was nearly the same); scarlet fever was also less fatal last year than in 1855, being about 7.4 against 12.7 per cent; while of the acute diseases not fever, the mortality was about 1 per cent. higher than in 1855.

The complications which occurred in the progress of the different forms of fever may be briefly adverted to. In the 204 fatal cases of typhus, 168 were uncomplicated and 36 complicated (viz., with parotid swelling, 9; gangrene of the mouth, 2; erysipelas, 1; bad sores and carbuncle, 2; bronchitis, 9; pneumonia, 3; pleurisy, 2; delirium tremens, 2; epilepsy, 1; disease of the heart, 2; congestion of the liver, 1; renal disease, 2).

Of the 24 typhoid cases, there were 15 uncomplicated and 9 complicated (viz., with pneumonia, 4; with intestinal perforation, 2; with mælena, 1; with phlegmasia alba, 2).

Of the 14 fatal cases of scarlet fever, there were 11 uncomplicated and 3 complicated (viz., with pleurisy and pericarditis, 1; gangrene of the lung, 1; chronic renal disease, 1).

Of the 47 deaths from other acute diseases, there were, from pyohæmia, 1; erysipelas, 1; puerperal fevers (labour having taken place during the attack of fever), 2; tubercular diseases in different organs, 15 (viz., of the lungs, 8; membranes of the brain, 4; peritoneum, 3); from pneumonia, 10 (right lung, 2; left lung, 6; both sides, 2); diseases of the brain, 8 (softening, 2; cancer, 1; abscess, 1; hemorrhage, 2; epilepsy, 2); from jaundice, 1; and from chronic renal disease, 4.

There were 90 domestic servants admitted last year, of whom, as usual, a greater proportion recovered than among the more destitute patients.

Notwithstanding the large number of patients in the Hospital last year, imposing necessarily increased labour on those in attendance on the sick, the nurses and inmates of the establishment have, with a few exceptions, escaped. One of the housemaids was seized with typhus, but she recovered. Three of the nurses were also the subjects of typhus, and they also recovered, as well as another nurse who passed through a mild form of scarlet fever.

In conclusion, it may be stated that nearly 1800 individuals, afflicted with one of the most severe forms of acute disease to which the human body is liable, having received last year immediate relief, while the spread of contagion has been prevented by their timely removal from localities in which the disease, but for such prompt aid, is sure to diffuse itself, this Charity stands second to none among the many with which this metropolis abounds. Had such an Institution not been at hand to arrest the progress of epidemics, which, from causes unknown to the most profound enquirers, recur at uncertain intervals, and without previous warning, the misery to the sick poor themselves, no less than the danger to all classes, must be apparent. It, therefore, appears an anomaly that a Charity dispensing so much good, and at a pecuniary cost really so comparatively trifling, has been allowed, in some measure, to languish from want of funds.

It is almost inconceivable that the Committee should from year to year be compelled to call attention to its resources being so limited, and that the expenditure has almost invariably—often considerably—exceeded its income.

The public may rest assured that their bounty is distributed with the most scrupulous economy consistent with the proper working of a large establishment, which must be always maintained on such a scale of efficiency as will meet any sudden outbreak of epidemic fever.

The Hospital is open at all times for public inspection, and the Committee earnestly invite those who take an interest in the welfare of the poor to inspect this establishment, which is, in every sense of the term, a free Hospital for the reception of patients labouring under contagious fevers.

The number of patients admitted in 1855, as shown by the last Report, was 1083; the number admitted in 1856 was 1761. The expenses which, generally speaking, vary with the number of patients, were, in 1855, £2235 10s. 8d.; in 1856, they amounted only to £2622 8s. 8d. The comparison shows, as the Committee hope, a considerable improvement in the economical management of the Hospital.

* * * Such benevolent persons as may be disposed to contribute to this charity are requested to intimate their intention to the Secretary, and they will be waited on by the Collector; or, if they pay to the Bankers, Messrs. HOARE, 37, Fleet-street, they will please to leave their Christian names and places of abode at the time of payment. Any errors in the list of subscribers will be thankfully corrected, on writing to the Secretary at the Hospital.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

The following form is recommended to those who may be disposed to become benefactors by will.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer, for the time being, of the London Fever Hospital, established in 1802, to be applied for the purposes of the Institution, the sum of _____ pounds, to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as shall not consist of an interest in Land. The Receipt of such Treasurer to be a sufficient discharge.

LONDON FEVER HOSPITAL.
SUPPORTED BY VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS,
LIVERPOOL ROAD, ISLINGTON.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS.

OBJECTS OF THE INSTITUTION.

1. ALL poor persons (not being parochial paupers) and domestic servants of subscribers, labouring under contagious fever, and residing in the metropolis, or its neighbourhood, shall be considered proper objects of this charity, and shall be admitted gratuitously according to the next regulation. Parochial paupers, domestic servants of non-subscribers, and all inmates of other public charities (except medical hospitals), shall be admitted on the payment of such sum for each patient as the Committee shall from time to time determine.

2. On application for the admission of any patient to the Hospital, notice shall be immediately given to the resident medical officer, and the person after inspection may be admitted by an order signed by him, or on a certificate signed by any physician, surgeon, or apothecary, stating the disease to be fever of a contagious nature, or likely to become such. The order or certificate shall entitle the patient to admission, subject to the provisions contained in Rule No. 1, unless the case shall be deemed an improper one by the resident medical officer, or unless the Hospital shall be full.

GOVERNORS.

3. All subscribers of one guinea annually, or of ten guineas in one donation, shall be governors of this Hospital.

GENERAL MEETING AND ELECTION OF THE COMMITTEE.

4. A general meeting of the governors, of which ten days' previous notice must be given in three morning newspapers, shall be held every year, on the second Friday in February, or as near thereto as may be convenient, for the purpose of approving or rescinding the proceedings of the Committee for the preceding year; for receiving an annual report of the state of the funds; and for electing a president, vice-presidents, treasurer, honorary secretary, and other members of the Committee, for the ensuing year. At all Meetings connected with the affairs of the Hospital, a simple majority of the governors present and voting shall bind the minority, and in case of equality of votes, the Chairman shall have an additional or casting vote.

5. A special general meeting of the governors may at any time be called, by direction of the president or of the Committee; or on the requisition of any twelve governors, provided the requisition be made in writing to the secretary, and the purpose for which the same is summoned be published in three morning newspapers at least ten days prior to the next meeting; but the proceedings of such special general meeting, though acted upon pro tempore, shall not be deemed final until confirmed by another general meeting.

6. No new rule or law shall be made, nor shall any existing rule or law be repealed or altered until determined upon at a general meeting by a majority of governors present and voting, and until confirmed at a subsequent general or special meeting.

7. The presence of seven governors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum at general meetings, and without that number no business shall be transacted.

8. At the annual general meeting, a Committee, for the management of the Institution, shall be elected, consisting of the president, the vice-presidents, the treasurer, honorary secretary, and twenty-four other governors; four of which governors shall not have been members of the preceding Committee. They shall meet on the last Friday, or on such other day of every month as the Committee may appoint, and three members shall be necessary to constitute a meeting, and to transact business. A special meeting of the Committee may be called by the direction of the Treasurer, or by any three members of the Committee, on giving at least three days' notice of the same, and specifying the business for which it is called.

9. The Committee shall have authority to appoint sub-committees, whose reports shall be submitted to their consideration; they shall elect all the officers, except the physicians of the Hospital, and the honorary secretary, who shall be elected by the governors at large; and with the assistance of the medical officers shall form regulations and bye-laws for the internal management of the Hospital.

10. The resolutions of one meeting of the Committee shall not be rescinded by another, unless it be specially summoned for that purpose. All accounts, except such small sums as may be comprised under the item of petty cash, shall be submitted to the Committee at the monthly meetings, after having been duly examined by the secretary, the resident medical officer, and the house directors, and such accounts, if approved, shall be paid by cheques payable to order, signed in Committee by the chairman and one other member, or in case a Committee cannot be formed, by two house directors, and in all cases countersigned by the secretary. All the larger articles of supply, when practicable, shall be furnished by contract made after public tender. No expenditure for repairs of premises or any machinery shall be incurred without a written order from the Committee or house directors.

11. The Committee shall yearly publish a report of the state of the Hospital.

12. No person, being a member of the Committee, shall furnish for profit any goods, provisions, or other articles for the use of or on account of the Hospital, or be concerned in any contract for supplying the same, or be employed for hire, or wages, or profit, in any office or employment under the Charity.

TREASURER.

13. The treasurer, if present, shall take the chair at all meetings of the Committee in the absence of the president or vice-presidents. He shall keep an account at the bankers, and all monies received for the use of the Hospital shall be paid to such account; he shall honor all cheques signed, as provided in rule 10th; and the signature of the secretary shall be a sufficient warranty that the cheques purporting to be so signed are properly signed, and shall be an indemnity to the treasurer against risk.

AUDITORS.

14. Three gentlemen shall be appointed annually at the meeting of the Committee in November, who shall audit the accounts of the Institution for the current year, and approve an abstract of all receipts and disbursements to be prepared by the secretary, and laid before the annual general meeting in February.

MONTHLY DIRECTORS.

15. The Committee shall, at each monthly meeting, appoint three members of their own body as directors of the Hospital, of whom two shall be a quorum, and who shall continue in office until the next monthly meeting of the Committee.

16. They shall, from time to time, cause the bed-clothes and apparel belonging to the Hospital to be examined, and shall report thereon, if necessary, to the Committee. They shall inspect the tradesmen's bills, and take care that the provisions, bedding, clothing, furniture, and every article for the use of the Hospital be supplied on the most reasonable terms. They shall order in writing all permanent stores.

17. They shall be authorized in all respects to enforce the observance of the regulations of the Hospital; they shall notice and report to the Committee any irregularity or misconduct on the part of the officers, servants, or patients of the Charity; and shall, at every meeting of the Committee, cause a statement of the house-expenditure to be produced for the preceding month. They appoint the porters, nurses, and other menial servants of the Hospital, and dismiss them for misconduct.

PHYSICIANS.

18. There shall be two physicians, and two assistant physicians, who shall be fellows or licentiates of the Royal College of Physicians of London; and also a consulting-surgeon, who shall be a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons.

19. The physicians and assistant-physicians shall be elected by the governors at large; and no governor shall be qualified to vote, unless he shall have become a governor three months before a vacancy is declared.

20. One of the physicians shall visit the Hospital, at least once every day; and at such times as they may deem necessary. Their duties shall be restricted to the wards, and shall not extend to anything relating to the general management of the Hospital; but they shall have the power of dismissing any patient or convalescent, for refractory conduct, or disobedience of orders.

ASSISTANT-PHYSICIANS.

21. In case of the illness or necessary absence of either of the physicians, one of the assistant-physicians shall attend regularly in his stead. Such attendances to be reported to the Committee.

HOSPITAL PUPILS.

22. No medical student shall be permitted to visit the Hospital, unless in company with one of the physicians, and unless he is regularly entered, or registered as a pupil.

RESIDENT MEDICAL OFFICER.

23. The resident medical officer shall reside constantly at the Hospital, and shall devote himself entirely to the duties of his office; and previously to his election he shall be required to produce satisfactory testimonials to the Committee.

24. He shall superintend the patients between the visits of the physicians, and the dispensary shall be exclusively under his control. In the absence of the Committee and house directors he shall be recognized as the head of the establishment.

25. Accurate registers of the patients admitted, as well as of the remedies employed for their recovery, shall be kept—which registers shall be the property of the Hospital; he shall produce a medical report every month, to be laid before the Committee.

26. When the number of patients shall be great and he shall require aid, he shall, with the sanction of the Committee, appoint a medical assistant, if his qualifications be approved by the physicians, at such remuneration as the Committee shall from time to time determine, and he shall be responsible for the acts of such assistant.

HONORARY SECRETARY.

27. There shall be an honorary secretary, who shall also be a member of the Committee, and chosen annually with them. He shall be at liberty to attend all deputations to public bodies and private persons. He shall communicate with persons concerning the affairs of the Hospital during the intervals between the monthly meetings of the Committee, and shall report to the Committee at their next meeting all special or important events that shall have occurred within his knowledge during the month. He shall also assist the Treasurer in the discharge of his duties when necessary.

SECRETARY AND HOUSE-STEWARD.

28. The duties of this officer shall be to reside in the Hospital, and in the absence of the house directors to have the management of the domestic affairs of the Hospital under the general superintendence of the resident medical officer. He shall be required to enter into a bond, with sufficient sureties for the due and faithful performance of his duties. He shall also perform the several duties specified in the bye-laws.

MATRON.

29. The duties of the matron shall principally relate to the wards, the kitchen, and the laundry. She shall exercise a strict superintendence over the nurses; shall have the charge of the linen, bedding, glass, crockery, and ordinary kitchen and scullery stores, subject to the general supervision of the house steward; and shall visit every ward of the Hospital at least three times in the day. She shall also perform the several duties specified in the bye-laws.

COLLECTOR.

30. The duties of this officer shall be—

To call on subscribers and collect all donations and subscriptions of the Hospital; to give only authorized printed receipts for the same; to attend all meetings, when required ; to keep correct lists, and duplicate lists, of all donations and subscriptions, with the residences of the donors and subscribers made up from day to day ; to pay weekly all moneys he may receive to the bankers ; to deliver weekly to the secretary reports in writing of all moneys received and paid, with the balance at the bankers ; to keep the accounts regularly entered in the collector's cash book ; to deliver a copy of the annual report to each subscriber, and to give such security, with sureties, for the due and faithful performance of his duties, as may be required.

NURSES.

31. The head nurse in each ward shall attend principally to the patients ; and to the keeping of the wards clean and quiet.

32. The under-nurses shall be under the direction of the head-nurses, and shall perform the more menial offices of the Hospital.

PORTER AND ENGINEER.

33. The porter and the engineer shall be employed as the Committee or directors may think proper. They shall not absent themselves without the permission of the house-directors, or resident medical officer.

TRUSTEES.

34. The legal estate in the lands, buildings, and premises of the Hospital shall be vested in three trustees, new trustees being appointed when vacancies occur, at a general meeting of the governors.

35. All legacies of £100 and upwards, unless otherwise directed by testators, shall be invested for the benefit of the Hospital in the names of three trustees.

36. No variation in the usual gratuities and fixed salaries shall be made, unless the Committee be specially summoned for the purpose, and unless the proposed addition, or diminution, be confirmed by a subsequent Committee.

BYE-LAWS.

37. The bye-laws which shall from time to time be made by the Committee shall be open to the inspection of any subscriber, and shall contain, among other things, a full specification of the duties of the resident medical officer, the matron, and other officers of the Institution, with the practice usually adopted for their election: which specification shall be read over to every individual before his appointment, and referred to on all occasions of doubt.
